The authorities were criticised for their failure to cause Forts Davis and Dupont to be made available for general use by the public. Several months ago these forts were acquired for park purposes, but nothing has ever been done toward improving them. There is no public space in that section where persons can enjoy an outing, it is contended. President Snyder appointed a special committee to interview the proper officials in reference to this matter.

Thousands of birds sought safety in prohibited zones within two hundred yards of bridges, inhabited houses and roads, and persons passing along Benning road were surprised to see the large flocks of reedbirds and ortolan so near the thoroughfare. It is impossible to estimate how many thousand birds were killed yesterday, gunners said.

Scores of gunners were on hand early this morning to resume the slaughter of the birds. The heat in the marshes made shooting uncomfortable.
